The five books in the Teen Ink series are a compilation of some of the most heartfelt and compelling pieces published in Teen Ink Magazine over the last fourteen years, combined with essays from students worldwide about what matters in their lives. Pieces were selected from over 400,000 student submissions to the magazine.

These essays give young people the opportunity to look within themselves and decide which ideals are important to them.

– Barbara Bush, Former First Lady

No adult reader can remain untouched by the drama in teens' lives; their writings provoke our compassion and insight.
